PREFACE.

---

THE poems contained in this volume form part of a MS. in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, now numbered CCI., but marked in the old Catalogue and in Wanley as S.18. The portion of the MS. here printed commences at page 161, and is written in a different hand from that part of the volume which precedes it. A complete list of the contents of this valuable MS. is given in Wanley's Catalogue, pp. 137 seqq., and need not be repeated.

The first two pieces here printed have never been put forth before, with the exception of the few lines given in Wanley, some of which were copied into Conybeare's Illustrations of Anglo-Saxon Poetry (p. lxxx of the introductory Catalogue), but with the mistakes which are in Wanley exactly repeated. Prof. Conybeare had evidently never seen the MS., or he would have given the lines as they are now printed.

In sending forth these texts the sole aim of the Editor has been to put into the reader's hands as complete a representation of the words of the MS. as a printed text can furnish. Either in the text or in the margin the reader will find every letter of the original supplied to him.

Very few notes have been added, but a copious index verborum is appended. This seemed likely to be of more service than notes.

The first of these five poems is an Old English version of what is variously represented as Bede's, or as Alcuin's Latin poem, "De Die Judicii." The Latin text which is herewith printed is taken from the collection of writings attributed to Bede, and appended to the genuine works of that father published in Migne's Patrologia. But a large portion of the same poem will be found among the works ascribed to Alcuin. In Frobenius' edition of Alcuin, 1777, it is given, with sixteen lines of introduction, at page 616, vol. iii., among the Addenda et Supplenda. The Old English version is of course much later than the date of either of these writers.

The second poem, which the editor has entitled Lár, follows in the MS. immediately after the first, and appears to be an exhortation designed to supplement the former poem.

Wanley has printed the other three poems in extenso, and they have been published by Grein among the specimens in his Bibliothek. A few errors which occur in Wanley, and which in some places Grein has emended conjecturally, have been corrected in the present reprint of the poems, and to the whole a rendering in modern English, as literal as was possible, has been supplied.

It will be seen that the poems are defective in many places, as shown by the faulty alliteration in some lines, and here and there by the absence of half a line or more at a time, especially in that curious medley, the Oratio Poetica. The Editor leaves to others the labour of conjectural emendations. He has to thank many friends for suggestions while the sheets have been going through the press, and the authorities of Corpus Christi College for the kindness with which they arranged that he might have access to the MS. To one of their number, the Rev. W. M. Snell, he is also indebted for a careful final reading of the printed text with the MS.

OF DOOMSDAY.

- Lo! I lonely sat within a bower,
With shade bedecked, amidst a wood,
Where the water-burns murmured and ran,
4 Amid an inclosure, all as I say.
There also pleasant plants waxed and bloomed,
Amid the gathering in a peerless meadow ;
And the trees of the wood waved and rustled,
8 Through roaring of the winds the welkin was desolated,
And my sad mind was all troubled.
Then I suddenly, fearful and sad,
This gloomy verse began to sing,
12 All such as thou mayest speak of, mindful of sins,
Of the faults of life, and the long tide
Of the coming of dark death on earth.
I trembled for myself eke at that great doom,
16 For my sinful deeds upon earth.
And I likewise trembled for myself at that eternal ire, I trembled at
And for each sinful one from God himself,
And how the mighty Lord, all men's kin
20 Will sever and doom through his secret might.
I minded me eke of the glory of the Lord,
And of those holy-ones in heaven's kingdom :
Likewise of the wretched, their evil and punishment.
- As I sat in a bower,
- my mind was troubled
- at my sins,
- and the coming
of death.
- God's doom, and thought of the blessed and the cursed.

- 24 I minded this with myself, and I mourned greatly,
 And murmuring I spake, troubled in mind.
 Now, ye veins, I bid you all
 That ye open well the wellsprings
- 28 Hot on my face quickly for tears.
 Then I, sinful, strike strongly with fist,
 Beat my breasts in the place of prayer ;
 And my body I lay on the earth,
- 32 And as deserved I invoke all pains.
 I bid you now with prayers
 That ye slack not at all for tears ;
 But dreary face vex ye with weeping,
- 36 And with salt drops soon overshadowed,
 And open your sin to the Eternal Lord.
 Let there no whit remain within,
 In heart cave, of grievous guilts,
- 40 So that it be not day-clear that which was secret,
 With open words all laid bare,
 Of breast and tongue and flesh also.
 This is only salvation of a poor soul,
- 44 And to the sorrowful best of hopes :
 That he his wounds here by weeping make known
 To the leech on high. He only may
 The offenders in guilt with good heal,
- 48 And the prisoners quickly unbind,
 He truly will not bruise with his right hand
 Thoughtless heart, ruler of angels :
 Nor the faint smoke of weak flesh
- 52 Will Christ the ruler with water quench.
 Did not the thief warn thee sharply with example,
 Who with Christ was slain on the cross,
 How much avails, and how grand is,
- 56 That true sorrow for sins and offences ?
 The thief was on the cross, guilty and sinful,
 With wrongdoings all laden :

I bade my tears fall ;

I beat my breasts,
 and lay on the earth.

I bid you all

confess your sins
 to God,

that he may heal
 you.

He will not bruise you.

- He to the Lord, nevertheless, nigh unto death,
 60 His prayer bade with heart-thoughts : by prayer gat help,
 He with few words, but full of faith,
 His salvation obtained, and help speedily,
 And fared in at the peerless gates
- 64 Of Paradise, with the Redeemer. and went to Paradise.
 I ask thee, O poor mind,
 Why lingerest thou so long, that thou showest not thyself to the leech ?
 Or why art thou silent, sinful tongue,
- 68 Now thou for forgiveness hast ready time ? Why dost not thou ask forgiveness now !
 Now thee, the Almighty, with attentive ears,
 Ward of heaven's kingdom, will hear with pleasure ;
 But the day cometh when God will doom
- 72 The circuit of earth. Thou by thyself shalt
 Give account with words to God the Creator,
 And to the mighty Lord rightly account.
 I rede thee that thou be beforehand with penitent tears,
- 76 And that anger prevent of the Eternal Judge.
 Why liest thou in dust with offences filled,
 O Flesh ! with sins ? Why dost thou not cleanse away, Why dost thou not cleanse thy sins with thy tears !
 With flood of tears, grievous sins ?
- 80 Why askest thou not for thyself bathings and plaster,
 Life's leechdoms, of life's Lord ?
 Now shouldst thou greet, tears pour forth,
 While time is, and weeping-tide.
- 84 Now is it beneficial that man here weep,
 And penance do at the Lord's will.
 Glad is the Son of God if thou sorrow bearest, Glad will Christ be of thy sorrow.
 And thyself judgest for sins on earth.
- 88 Ne'er heaven's God wrongs and guilts
 Above one time will wreak on any man ;
 Nor shouldst thou despise wailing and weeping,
 And of forgiveness the ready time.
- 92 Think also in soul how great is the punishment,

- That to the wretched shall be for former sins.
 Either how awful and how dreadful
 A King in his majesty here will judge
 96 Each man by his former deeds.
 Or what tokens begin to fare,
 And Christ's coming show on earth.
 Earth all shaketh, and likewise the mountains
 100 Perish and fall,
 And the doors of the graves bend and melt ;
 And the fearful noise of the boisterous sea
 All men's hearts much affrighteth,
 104 Utterly also is heaven above
 Swart and cloudy, quickly it waxeth
 Dark and dim-hued, and a swart chaos.
 Then stedless stars fall,
 108 And the sun grows dark early in the day,
 Nor has the moon aught of any night
 That she the night's clouds may disperse.
 Also then shall come hither, down from heaven,
 112 Death-tokenings, affright the miserable :
 Then shall come on high mighty hosts,
 A strong power stirred they hurry around.
 The hosts of all angels surround the Eternal
 116 The great Creator, with might and host.
 There shall sit, sun-bright, the firmament's ruler
 On high throne with crown honoured,
 We shall be suddenly brought before him,
 120 From all sides coming to his presence ;
 That each may receive doom for his deeds from the Lord himself. be doomed.
 I bid, O man, that thou remember how great will be the terror
 Before the Lord's judgment-seat then.
 124 He stands heartless and timorous,
 Amazed and disturbed, powerless, terrified ;
- Think of God's
Judgement Day,
- and the tokens
that come before it.
- The graves shall open,
- the stars shall fall.
- Then, with hosts
of angels, shall

- There will be the needy, and kings of people,
 Poor and rich all will be affrighted.
 There will have one law, poor and the wealthy.
- 164 Therefore they will have fear all alike.
 That angry flood will rush with fire,
 And bitterly burn the poor souls :
 And the hearts, savagely worms,
- 168 Of sin-guilty ones, will carve and tear.
 Nor may there any man, by works of merit,
 Bold become in presence of the Judge ;
 But terror will run alike through all,
- 172 Thoughts of the heart, and the bitter weeping.
 And there will stand, stiffened most like to stone,
 All the wicked troop, in expectation of evil.
 What doest thou, O flesh ? what actest thou now ?
- 176 How might thou on that tide bewail thy trouble ?
 Woe ! thou servest now thyself,
 And here gladly livest in lust,
 And thyself with keen goads there urgent to luxury.
- 180 Why wilt thou not fear the fiery terror,
 And for thyself dread greatly the punishments
 Which for devils of yore the Lord prepared
 To cursed souls for wages of woe ?
- 184 These overpass thought and speech,
 Of every man for greatness.
 No speech may be with tidings to recount
 To any on earth the wretched penalties,
- 188 Filthy places of fire in the depth,
 That was mid fierce torment in hell.
 There be for sorrow together mingled
 The flame of vapours, and the weariness of cold,
- 192 Very heat and cold, in midst of hell.
 One while there the eyes without measure will weep ;
 For the scorching of the furnace, he is all full of misery ;
 One while too the teeth of men for great cold there will gnash.

Rich and poor
will be judged alike.

All will be terrified.

Flesh, thou

livest now in lust.

Wilt thou not fear hell,

fire and sulphur,

vapour and cold ?

- Then will perish from hence the fatal
 232 Joys of this world; they will depart all together.
 Then drunkenness will cease with feasts,
 And laughter and play will leap together.
 And lust also will depart hence,
- 236 And greed will far depart,
 Wickedness away, and each luxury,
 Guilty to hasten into the shade.
 And the wretched helpless sleep will fly,
- 240 Slack with slumber, to slink behind.
 Then in dark bitter fire saw
 The poor at last, that which forbidden is now;
 That most loved in life, loathed will be then,
- 244 And the guilts will turn that weary heart
 Verily among sorrows and among misery.
 Oh! he will be happy, and more than happy,
 And world-without-end of men the happiest,
- 248 He that with prosperity, such overthrow,
 And with understanding, may well escape,
 And likewise blessed in all the world
 Serve his lord, and then may have
- 252 Heaven's kingdom, that is of joys the best.
 There night nor darkness overclouds
 The sheen of heavenly light.
 There cometh not sorrow nor pain, nor toilworn eld,
- 256 Nor happeth there ever any toil;
 Either hunger, or thirst, or miserable sleep.
 There is not fever, nor decay, nor sudden plague,
 Crackling of no fire, nor the loathsome cold,
- 260 There is not mourning, nor there weariness,
 Nor ruin, nor care, nor fierce torment.
 Nor is there lightning, nor loathsome storm,
 Winter, nor thunder shower, nor a whit of cold;
- 264 Nor there are mighty hail-showers with snow,
 Nor is want there, nor loss, nor terror of death,

Worldly joys
there vanish,

and the desire of life be loathed.

Happy will be

 Beautifully decks, and liberally loveth,
- 276 And on heaven's throne on high adorneth.
 His kind Son, lord of Victory, the gift of Christ,
 Gives to each one everlasting meed,
 Heavenly glories, that is a splendid gift.
- 280 Among the beautiful host of angels, the fellowship of angels,
 And in troops and throngs of the holy ones,
 There shall they be associated among nations,
 Amidst the patriarchs and holy prophets.
- 284 In blissful mood among the cities,
 There be the apostles of Almighty God.
 And amid the stores of roses red
 There ever shall they shine.
- 288 There of the white ones shall wander a maiden throug the company of virgins,
 With blossoms hung. Brightest of the hosts,
 Who them all will lead, God's peerless dear one, led by
 The woman who for us the Lord conceived,
- 292 Creator on earth : virgin the pure,
 That is MARY, of maidens most blessed. Mary, mother of God.
 She will lead through those bright shining kingdoms
 (Blessedest she of all) of the glorious father,
- 296 Betwixt father and son, a goodly host,
 And mid eternal heavenly peace,
 In the kingdom of the wise heavenly ruler. What are earth's

DE DIE JUDICII.

[From Migne's Edition of BEDE, Vol. V. p. 634.]

---

- Inter florigeras fecundi cespitis herbas,
Flamine ventorum resonantibus undique ramis,
Arboris umbriferæ mæstus sub tegmine solus
4 Dum sedi, subito planctu turbatus amaro,
Carmina præ tristi cecini hæc lugubria mente
Utpote commemorans scelerum commissa meorum,
Et maculas vitæ, mortisque inamabile tempus,
8 Judicii que diem horrendo examine magnum,
Perpetuamque reis districti iudicis iram,
Et genus humanum discretis sedibus omne,
Gaudia sanctorum necnon, pœnasque malorum.
12 Hæc memorans mecum tacito sub murmure dixi :
Nunc rogo, nunc venæ fontes aperite calentes,
Dumque ego percutiam pugnis rea pectora, vel dum
Membra solo sternam, meritosque ciebo dolores,
16 Vos, precor, effusis lacrymis non parcite statim,
Sed mœstam salsis faciem perfundite guttis.
Et reserate nefas Christo cum voce gementi,
Nec lateat quidquam culparum cordis in antro.
20 Omnia quin luci verbis reddantur apertis,
Pectoris et linguæ, carnis vel crimina sæva.
Hæc est sola salus animæ, et spes certa dolenti,
Vulnera cum lacrymis medico reserare superno;

- 24 Qui solet allisos sanare et solvere vinctos,
Quassatos nec vult calamos infringere dextra
Nec lini tepidos undis extinguere fumos.
Nonne exempla tibi pendens dabat in cruce latro
- 28 Peccati quantum valeat confessio vera ?
Qui fuit usque crucem sceleratis impius actis,
Mortis in articulo sed verba precantia clamat,
Et solo meruit fidei sermone salutem,
- 32 Cum Christo et portas paradisi intravit apertas.
Cur rogo, mens, tardas medico te pandere totam ?
Vel cur lingua, taces, veniæ dum tempus habebis ?
Auribus Omnipotens te nunc exaudit apertis.
- 36 Ille dies veniet, judex dum venerit orbis
Debebis qua tu rationem reddere de te.
Suadeo prævenias lacrymis modo judicis iram.
Quid tu in sorde jaces, scelerum caro plena piaculis ?
- 40 Cur tua non purgas lacrymis peccata profusis
Et tibi non oras placidæ fomenta medelæ ?
Fletibus assiduis est dum data gratia flendi,
Pœnituisse juvat tibi nunc et flere salubre est.
- 44 Æternus fuerit placidus te vindice judex.
Nec Deus ætherius bis crimina vindicat ulli,
Spernere tu noli veniæ tibi tempora certa.
Quanta malis maneant etiam tormenta memento,
- 48 Vel quam celsithronus metuendus ab arce polorum
Adveniet judex, mercedem reddere cunctis,
Præcurrent illum vel qualia signa, repente
Terra tremet, montesque ruent, collesque liquescent
- 52 Et mare terribili confundet murmure mentes.
Tristius et cœlum tenebris obducitur atris,
Astra cadunt rutilo et Titan tenebrescit in ortu.
Pallida nocturnam nec præstat luna lucernam,
- 56 De cœlo venient et signa minantia mortem,
Tum superum subito veniet commota potestas,
Cœtibus angelicis regem stipata supernum.

- Ille sedens solio fulget sublimis in alto,
 60 Ante illum rapimur, collectis undique turmis,
 Judicium ut capiat gestorum quisque suorum.
 Sis memor illius, qui tum pavor ante tribunal
 Percutiet stupidis cunctorum corda querelis.
- 64 Dum simul innumeris regem comitata polorum
 Angelica advenient cœlestibus agmina turmis,
 Atque omnes pariter homines cogentur adesse,
 Qui sunt, qui fuerant, fuerint vel quique futuri
- 68 Cunctaque cunctorum cunctis arcana patebunt.
 Quod cor, lingua, manus tenebrosis gessit in antris
 Et quod nunc aliquem verecundans scire veretur
 Omnibus in patulo pariter tunc scire licebit.
- 72 Insuper impletur flammis altricibus aer,
 Ignis ubique suis ruptis regnabit habenis.
 Et quo nunc aer gremium diffundit inane
 Ignea tunc sonitus perfundet flamma feroces,
- 76 Festinans scelerum sævas ulciscere causas.
 Nec vindex ardor cuiquam tunc parcere curat,
 Sordibus ablutus veniat nisi ab omnibus illuc.
 Tunc tribus et populi ferient rea pectora pugnis
- 80 Stabit uterque simul stupidus, pauperque potensque
 Et miser et dives simili ditione timebunt:
 Fluvius ignivomus miseros torquebit amare
 Et vermes scelerum mordebunt intima cordis.
- 84 Nullus ibi meritis confidit iudice præsens,
 Singula sed nimius percurrit pectora terror
 Et stupet attonito simul impia turba timore.
 Quid, caro, quid facies, illâ quid flebilis horâ
- 88 Quæ modo væ misera servire libidine gaudes,
 Luxuriæque tuæ stimulis te agitabis acutis
 Ignea tu tibimet cur non tormenta timebis,
 Dæmonibus dudum fuerantque parata malignis.
- 92 Quæ superant sensus cunctorum et dicta virorum,
 Nec vox ulla valet miseras edicere pœnas,

- Ignibus æternæ nigris loca plena gehennæ,
 Frigora mista simul ferventibus algida flammis
 96 Nunc oculos nimio flentes ardore camini
 Nunc iterum nimio stridentes frigore dentes.
 His miseris vicibus miseri voluntur in ævum
 Obscuras inter picea caligine noctes.
 100 Vox ubi nulla sonat, durus nisi fletus ubique,
 Non nisi tortorum facies ubi cernitur ulla.
 Non sentitur ibi quidquam nisi frigora, flammæ
 Fœtor et ingenti complet putredine nares.
 104 Os quoque flammivomum lugens implebitur igne,
 Et vermes lacerant ignitis dentibus ossa.
 Insuper et pectus curis torquetur amaris,
 Cur caro luxurians sibimet sub tempore parvo
 108 Atro perpetuas meruisset carcere pœnas;
 Lucis ubi miseris nulla scintilla relucet
 Nec pax nec pietas immo spes nulla quietis
 Flentibus arrident, fugiunt solatia cuncta.
 112 Auxilium nullus rebus præstabit amaris,
 Lætitiæ facies jam nulla videbitur illic
 Sed dolor et gemitus, stridor, pavor, et timor horrens,
 Tædia, tristitiæ, trux indignatio, languor.
 116 Errantesque animæ flammis in carcere cæco.
 Noxia tunc hujus cessabunt gaudia sæcli,
 Ebrietas, epulæ, risus, petulantia, jocus,
 Dira cupido, tenax luxus, scelerata libido,
 120 Somnus iners torporque gravis, desidia pigra
 Illicitat quidquid modo delectatio carnis
 Et cæca scelerum mergit vertigine mentem,
 Tunc cæcis merget flammis sine fine misellos.
 124 Felix o nimium, semperque in sæcula felix
 Qui illas effugiet pœnarum prospere clades
 Cum sanctisque simul lætatur in omnia sæcla !
 Conjunctus Christo coelestia regna tenebit,
 128 Nox ubi nulla rapit splendorem lucis amœnæ,

- Non dolor aut gemitus veniet, nec fessa senectus
 Non sitis, esuries, somnus et non labor ullus
 Non febris, morbi, clades, non frigora, flammæ
 132 Tædia, tristitiæ, curæ, tormenta, ruinæ
 Fulmina, nimbus, hiems, tonitru, nix, grando, procella,
 Angor, paupertas, mœror, mors, casus, egestas,
 Sex pax et pietas, bonitas, opulentia regnat,
 136 Gaudia, lætitiæ, virtus, lux, vita perennis
 Gloria, laus, requies, honor et concordia dulcis,
 Insuper omne bonum cunctis Deus ipse ministrat.
 Semper adest præsens, cunctos fovet, implet, honorat,
 140 Glorificat, servat, veneratur, diligit, ornat,
 Collocat Altithrono, lætosque in sede polorum
 Præmia perpetuis tradens cœlestia donis.
 Angelicas inter turmas sanctasque cohortes
 144 Vaticicis junctos patriarchis atque prophetis
 Inter apostolicas animis lætantibus arces.
 Atque inter roseis splendentia castra triumphis
 Candida virgineo simul inter agmina flore.
 148 Quæ trahit alma Dei genetrix, pia Virgo Maria,
 Per benedicta Patris fulgenti regna paratu
 Inter et Ecclesiæ sanctos, natosque, patresque,
 Inter et ætherium cœlesti pace senatum.
 152 Quid, rogo, quid durum, sæclo consetur in isto,
 Utque illas inter liceat habitare cohortes,
 Sedibus et superum semper gaudere beatissimis?
 Incolumem mihi te Christi charissima proles,

- Now I teach thee as one shall do a beloved one.
If thou wilt attain that blooming realm,
Then be thou humble, and bountiful,
- 4 Wise in words, and love watchfulness.
In holy thought, in the present time,
Kind of disposition, and abundant in prayers,
Continually when thou art alone.
- 8 Because holy prayer, and pure love
Of God and man, and almsgiving, and the great trust

- 12 Good works adorn and bring
The upright soul to rest
In heavenly happiness.
Work what thou workest, word or deed ;
- 16 Have fear of the Creator, in the midst,
That is assuredly the beginning of wisdom,
That thou the everlasting light all do not lose.
This world is fleeting, and we are yet poor
- 20 Of heaven's kingdom. That is a heavy burden.
And though thou after thine end give everything
That thou on earth before acquiredst
Of each good, will it please God ?

- Release, if it become among
 Fiends captured, of comfort bereft,
 Of wealth deprived. But do thou the God of glory,
- 28 The eternal almighty, constantly pray
 That he let thee not fall into the hands of evil ones,
 To the gain of fiends. But flee thou from thence,
 Give alms, oft and repeatedly, in secret,
- 32 That is the exhortation of the Lord,
 For each man that believes in God.
 Buy for thyself eternal light with thy possessions,
 The less wilt thou be undone, when thou the power over them
- 36 Hast not to give. It is very evil
 To every man that he have much,
 If he fear not God
 Much more than his own will.
- 40 Take thou good heed against gluttony,
 For it assembleth all the bad qualities
 Which most destroy the soul,
 That is, drunkenness and secret fornication,
- 44 Undue longing for food and sleep.
 These man may with fasting
 And continence drive away,
 And with church going in cold weather.
- 48 Humbly-always [take care] to pray
 The Lord of heaven, that he give thee health,
 The kind protector, as to him seems fit ;
 And be thou afraid of secret plans,

 Sinful desires oftentimes greatly to produce.
 With trouble therefore thou in terror shalt
 Thy offences greatly mourn.

- Land and country. Unknown to thee then will be
- 60 Whither thy lord will assign thee ;
 When thou no longer mayest enjoy life
 In earth's region, as thou didst before
 Exulting in bliss. Now oughtest thou to save thyself,
 Thou canst not live long.
- 64 And against every enemy hold fast
 Thy soul. Ever they labour around,
 By day and night, against the lord's life.
 Thou mightest put them to flight, if thou wilt follow
 Save thyself then !
- 68 My teaching, as I teach thee—
 Secretly that thou in the early morn
 Oft for thy soul's advantage earnestly meditate
 How thou the eternal light ever mayest attain ;
 Rout thy soul's foes !
- 72 With pains to seek, thou shalt gladly eagerly labour
 After the heavenly kingdom ;
 By day and night, thou shalt drunkenness flee,
 And gluttony all forego.
 Seek the kingdom of heaven.
 Flee drunkenness, gluttony,
- 76 If thou wilt that heavenly land choose,
 Then shalt thou on earth before think on it,
 And earnestly restrain thyself,
 And forego all bad habits
 and all thy old bad habits.
- 80 Which thou in life formerly didst love and cherish.

POETICAL PARAPHRASE OF THE LORD'S PRAYER.

---

Pater noster.

Thou art our father, Ruler of all, Our Father,
King in Glory, therefore we cry to thee :
For mercy we pray, now thou canst most easily
4 Release our soul, thou before dost send it
Through thy noble hand into the flesh.
But where will it come now,
Unless thou God of Angels again release it :
8 The soul from sins through thy trusty might ?

Qui es in celis.

Thou art in heaven, hope and consolation, Which art in heaven,
Brightest of joys, to thee bow down,
The host of all thy spirits. With one voice
12 They cry to Christ ; they all thus exclaim,
Holy art Thou, holy, King of heaven's angels,
Our Lord ; and Thy judgments are Right and ample. They extend yea to each,
16 Each single man, [judgments] for his own works.
Blessed will he be that worketh thy will.

Thy lofty name is so hallowed, Hallowed be thy name.
Very famously in many tongues
20 Two and seventy, as the books tell
That thou God of angels all arrangedst
Of each people, the manners and customs ;
These praise thy work in words and deeds,
24 Through nature they call on and praise Christ
And thy praise they set forth, oh living God,
So thou art honoured through all the world.

 There we shall find peace and love together,
 Brightness of eyes and all mirth :
 32 There will be heard thy holy praise,
 And thy great might, for consolation to men,
 So thou, God of Angels, blestest all.

Thy kingdom come.

Fiat voluntas tua.

- Let thy will done, as thou art Sovereign,
 36 Eternally revealed, over all the world,
 And thou thyself art righteous judge,
 Mighty counsellor, over the wide earth :
 So is thy high throne, high and grand
 40 Fair and honourable : as thy father wrought
 Noble and eternal, where Thou sittest
 On thy own right hand. Thou art Son and Father,
 Both persons in one ; so is thy noble nature
 44 Much magnified ; and thou helpst many,
 Thou, the might of all kings, thou callest above all,
 Thy word of might is heard afar.
 When thou thy host joyously makest happy,
 48 Thou givest might and protection to the great army,
 And many thousands thank thee,
 The host of all angels with one voice.

Thy will be done

Sicut in celo.

- As in heaven in majesty
 52 The noble and immortal servants of Christ
 Pure and elect ever thank thee :
 They sing and pray to the righteous God
 For mercy and the forgiveness of all people ;
 56 Then thou grantest to them, glorious king,

- And all men rise up
 That from woman and from man have been born ;
 88 Again the wasted bones with the flesh
 Shall become whole again.
 There we shall clearly know hereafter
 All that we wrought in this world,
 92 Better and worse, both at hand ;
 And we may not conceal it, because the Lord knows it,
 And there as witnesses will be wondrous many
 People of heaven, people of earth, and thirdly people of hell.
 96 Then will be terror through all the world,
 Then some one will assign to us at that day two conditions,
 Either the favour of the Lord, or the service of the devil,
 According as we shall have earned either here in life
 100 While our powers were at the best.

Sicut et nos dimittimus debitoribus nostris.

And then the living God will deliver for us
 Our souls, as we here forgive
 To frail men who offend against us.

 In temptation, [and] destroy and burn
 Our souls : though we many sins
 Did through our folly day and night,
 108 Idle speech, and wrongful work.
 We brake thy commands. We pray thee now,
 Almighty God, for mercy and forgiveness ;
 Let not so miserably thine handy work
 112 At the last day all perish.

And lead us not

Glory be

Patri et Filio et Spiritui Sancto.

8 Thou art Father of consolations and guardian of life,
Life's leader, the swayer of light
Severed from sins, as [is] thy glorious Son
Through pure nature, king over all,
12 Strong, blessed, the inspirer of books,
The high consolation of the soul.

to the Father,

and to the Holy Ghost.

Sicuta ert in principio.

As was in the beginning the lord of mankind
Of all the world brightness and comfort
16 Pure and wise : Thou revealedst that
When thou, eternal God, alone wroughtest
Through thy holy might, heavens and earth,
Countries and air above and all things.
20 Thou settest on earth very many kindreds,
And severest them afterwards abroad.
Thou formedst, eternal God, all creatures
In six days : on the seventh thou didst rest,
24 Then was complete thy fair work,
And thou thyself hallowedst Sunday,
And madest it glorious for a help to many ;

That high day all will hold and observe

- 28 Who understand Christian customs,
Holy love of heart, and the commands of the Highest,
In the Lord's name the day is honoured.

Et nunc et semper.

And now ever thy true works

is now and ever shall be,

- 32 And thy great might is manifest to many,
As they make known abroad thy wisdom
They stand eternal over all the world,
God's handy work grows as thou didst command,
36 All praise thee, the holy choruses
With pure voice, and Christian books,
All the earth; and we men say
Here on earth, "Be praise and thanks to God
40 Eternal joy, and thine own majesty."

Et in secula seculorum.

And for ever and ever he dwells and reigns world without end.

King in glory, his chosen ones

In high majesty, holy spirits,

- 44 Glorious angels, and mighty powers,
Faithful peace, thankfulness of souls,
Kindness of heart. There is the highest Love of holiness. The heavens are 48 Through thine eternal word everywhere full :
So is thy might over the earth
Clear and visible as thou thyself wroughtest them.

Amen.

We all say the Amen.

Amen.

- 52 Through pure nature thou art rightly king,
Pure and wise, thou revealedst that
When thou, mighty God, createdst man,
And into him didst put breath and soul,
56 Gavest him speech and wisdom, and nature of increase,
Thou revealedst to him thy knowledge. Such is Christ's might.

NOTES.

OF DOOMSDAY.

Line 2.—beþeht. The better orthography would be beþeakt, but it is not unusual for verbs whose stem ends in eo to drop the second vowel in the participle. Cf. gedreccan, Nic. 6: “þæt he hæfð on slæpe þin wif gedreht.” See also March, A.S. Gram. p. 111.

Line 2.—holte tomiddes. The same collocation is found in Alfred's Metres, 13, 38. It may be useful to observe such similarity of phraseology, with the object of fixing the date of this poem.

Line 4.—gehæge. This word is not given by Bosworth or Grein; the former has the simple form hege. The oldest form of the nominative was probably gehæga.

Line 5.—wynwyrta. Though wyn is of common occurrence compounded thus, yet this word seems unique. But wynburg, wynnæg, and other like compounds, are found in plenty.

Line 6.—innon. The unsettled orthography is seen by comparing this form with that in line 1, which is the earlier form. The rime is also to be noticed in the two sections of this line. Amid the gathering (i.e. of other plants).

Line 8.—gryre, properly horror; but of the inanimate wolcn horror can scarcely be predicated, and therefore the word seems rather to indicate the terrific character or roaring of the wind, and thus almost to be equal to a descriptive adjective.

Line 8.—gehrered, perhaps better—agitated, coming from hreran, rather than hresan; but see Bosw. 28u. The more usual word is onhrered. See Grein, s.v.

Line 11.—onhefde mid sange—Germ. hub an zu singen. fers not given in Grein, and only cited as occurring in a grammar and dictionary by Bosworth.

Line 12.—gemunde, an adjective—gemynde for gemyndig. It occurs in Elene, 1064.

Line 13.—tid. gemyndgian is constructed with both accusative and genitive.

Line 15.— Ic ondræde me eac, I also feared. The corresponding verb is reflexive in German too.

Line 22.—þara haligra. haligra is here the substantive. Cf. Ps. li. 8.

Line 23.—I have written yfel rather than yfeles, because of the case of witu.

Line 25.—murenigende, the word occurs in St. John vii. 33.

Line 27.—ontynan, conj. for ontynen. This variation is not uncommon. See March, p. 86. Thus we have the classic form hæbben in Guthlac (Exon), 644; habban in Ps. lxxxv. 16, and habbon in Ps. cxxi. 8, each for the present conjunctive.

Line 28.—hate, the adverb.

Line 30.—Breost must be the acc. plur., as the adjective shows.

Line 30.—gebedstowe, one word, though written divisim in the MS., cf. Juliana, 376.

Line 32.—gearnade, i.e. ge-earnade. This past participle is used almost adverbially in the sense of deservedly.

Line 34.—wandian, like ontynan, 27.

Line 42.—breostes, etc. These genitives depend on gyll understood from the previous clause.

Line 43.—hæl, cf. Germ. heil=safety.

Line 47.—In altering the MS. in this line, all that has been attempted is to keep as near to the written text as possible while giving a reading which can be construed. It seems most likely that the first god had been twice written by some scribe, and that the i of mid was then altered so as to make an adjective mod-god out of the two syllables, after the analogy of mod-ful, mod-þwær, etc. The Latin text helps but little, being qui solet allisos sanare. Aglidene is hopelessly corrupt, but as many of the letters of the word as possible have been preserved. It is thus left to the ingenuity of scholars, the exact letters of the MS. being given in the margin.

Line 49.—nele, a more usual form is nelle; nyle also occurs.

Line 49.—brysan, not in Grein, and only given by Bosworth on the authority of Somner without a reference.

Line 50.—gemod, apparently the same as mod, though I have not been able to find an instance of it. But the analogy of hygd and gehygd, and similar duplicates, is warrant enough for the meaning.

Line 52.—gedwæscan is not found elsewhere, but the simple verb dwæscan and the compound todwæscan occur. The writer of this poem was fond of ge as a prefix, v. lines 4, 8.

Line 53.—gesceop, properly the verb signifies to shape, hence to inform, instruct, warn. This metaphorical use is not common.

Line 55.—forstent=*forstande*ð. The successive changes seem to have been *forstand*ð, *forstant*ð, forstent, the last form also appearing as forstynt. The first words of the next line are leo soðe hreow.

Line 57.—*scea*ða is written four lines above *sca*þa. Both forms are equally common.

Line 60.—be-bead=bade, i.e. offered, as in the old expression  bidding of beads for offering up prayers.

Line 61.—lyt is used generally followed by a genitive, as lyt manna = parum virorum, lyt freonda = parum amicorum. Here we have a construction wherein lyt seems treated as conjoined with wordum, forming a true compound, and therefore having the instrumental case at the end of the whole, after the analogy of such a form as last-word = fame after death.

Line 63.—þa ænlican geatu, for this construction of the accusative to mark the way after faran, cf. For flodwegas, Riddles (Exon), 37, 9.

Line 68.—gearugne. This form, which occurs again in line 91, is not the usual form of the masculine acc. sing., but gearone. The original of gearu was no doubt gearug, cf. suprd, 12.

Line 69.—atihtum. The weak form atiht as the past participle of ateon marks a late period of the language, the classic form being atogen. The former occurs, however, in Alfred's Boethius, 32, 1, Tit. 32. The tendency has developed in the later language, wherein we have cleft and cloven; reft and riven; lost and forlor(e)n, etc.

Line 73.—scad. Not found in this simple form; but as gescad, gescead, it is frequent enough. The like phrase to the text occurs in Matt. xii. 36: Gescead agylðan.

Line 77.—horwe, a very rare word. See the Job in Thwaites Heptateuch, p. 161. It occurs below, line 156.

Line 77.—afylled, constructed both with a genitive and (as here) a dative.

Line 79.—gyte, a flood: still preserved in the Northern form goit or goyt, used for the overflow of a milldam, and the channel along which such overflow is conducted.

Line 80.—beþunga. The only form in which the nominative is recorded is beþing, but the interchange of i and u in this termination is very common, cf. wearnung and wearning.

Line 80.—plaster is a word of late introduction and rare occurrence.

Line 82.—greetan: the usual word in Lowland Scotch for shedding tears still is to greet. Here is another riming line.

Line 83.—þa hwile, the accusative case used adverbially. The more common form is þa hwile þe, followed, as here, by the conjunctive in expressions of indefinite time.

Line 84.—Nu is halwende, i.e. Nu hit is halwende. The complete expression occurs in Ps. cxviii. 103.

Line 86.—gnorn þrowast. The phrase occurs in Beow. 2658.

Line 89.—men=menn=männ. Dative singular.

Line 90.—forhyccan, i.e. forhyegan, the c having assimilated the g to itself, a very irregular form, for cc generally represents a previous cc, and cg=gg a previous gi.

Line 90.—heaf and wopas. The combination is common, but the form is more frequently wop and heaf.

Line 95.—heah-þrymme. Perhaps this ought to be heah-þrymmes, but as it stands it is capable of the rendering given to it in the translation.

Line 97.—forebeacn. For this plural form compare Grein, Bibl. Ps. cxxxiv. 9.

Line 99.—The alliteration in this line and the next is imperfect, and I am not sure that they should not be written all in one.

Line 101.—Beorghlið, as a compound, occurs, see Grein, but the genitive plural beorga is much more frequently used of graves, and so the sense seems to be, the doors (hlið=lid) of the graves, rather than the meaning of the compound = hill slopes, to which the verbs would not so well apply.

Line 102.—The correction here is not needed. The genitive of sæ is sometimes sæ (f.), sometimes sæs (m.).

Line 104.—bið. This word has been translated here and elsewhere is, but in many places will be, according as the sense seemed to require. The Saxon having no future was compelled to use this tense for both present and future, and perhaps it may most strictly be termed a sort of aorist. No doubt to this circumstance is due the indefinite character of the modern English present, which may mean an act just in progress, as, I eat=I am eating; but in such a sentence as I eat salt with my potatoes, has that aorist character which includes past, present, and future all in one. For instances of bið used necessarily as a present, see Morris, Blickling Homilies, part i. p. 17. Of him who knows not the brightness of the eternal light, it is said, se bið blind. On page 19, speaking of God, the writer says he bið á wesende = He is ever living. Yet in the very same sentence ǵ á biþ ece, the word may be (as Dr. Morris renders it) translated by our English shall be.

Line 105.—gewuxsað. If this emendation be correct (and the difference between the þ and the Saxon form of w is so slight as to be easily confused), the word is for the more usual form geweaxeð.

Line 106.—dim hiw. I have not varied the text here, though we probably should read hiwe as a dative after the adjective. But the words may be intended to make one compound adjective of the form bærfot, mildheort, eaðmod. This being possible, I have allowed them to stand.

Line 107.—Then the stars fall from their stede (or place).

Line 110.—flegan. This is the reading of the MS. The correct orthography would be flegan (or flygan), a derivative from fleogan, as began from beogan. See Loth, Etym. Engl. Grammatik, p. 226.

Line 112.—Literally = mortem indicantes, and might = angels of death.

Line 113.—eored-heapas. I have not found this compound elsewhere, though similar compounds with eored are in use, as eored-ciest, eored-þreat, etc.

Line 113.—In the translation I have regarded uplice as an adverb, but I think it would be more forcible if taken as the adjective agreeing with eored-heapas, and the whole rendered the legions of heaven.

Line 114.—stij-mægen. This compound does not appear elsewhere, but is quite in accordance with other forms from stið.

Line 115.—For instances of ecne used thus alone as a title of God, see Grein, s.v. Bihlænan is the usual form of the verb here.

Line 117.—sigel-beorht. Sigel being used for the sun, and also for a gem or jewel, the compound is capable of a double interpretation. Gem-bright is Bosworth's rendering; sun-bright, Grein's. The latter seems more in accordance with Scriptural phraseology, cf. Rev. i. 16. The Latin text has fulget sublimis in alto.

Line 118.—weorðian is not recorded elsewhere as compounded with be, the compound form is geworðian in other places.

Line 120.—æghwanum, a later form, noticed by Bosworth, of the more classic and usual æghwanon.

Line 124.—stent=standeð (v. suprd 55). The form occurs in Alf. Metr. xx. 171. It has of course, though present, an idea of the future, which is made more vivid by the use of this tense.

Line 124.—earh, a later form for earg.

Line 125.—amasod and amarod. I can find no instance of the use of these words or of any verbs from which they may have come. amarod seems cognate with amyrrad, the participle of amyrran, to distract, mar.

Line 127.—surround, i.e. they will surround. ymtrymmað for ymb- (or ymbe-) trymmað.

Line 128.—aboden. We should have expected the form to be abeden. See March, p. 100.

Line 139.—þinga, governed by eal in 136.

Line 141.—ypte oððe cyððe, for the combination of the two verbs, cf. Bed. iv. 25, and iv. 27.

Line 143.—alyfed=concessum, yielded up, set open to every eye.

Line 144.—Ufenan, generally means from above, and there is not a parallel to the phrase in the text, yet there can be little doubt that ufenan eall þis is meant to represent the insuper of the Latin. The same words occur again, lines 212 and 221, to represent the same Latin of lines 106 and 138.

Line 145.—lyft. As the Lowland Scotch has the same word still for heaven, it has been retained in the translation, though not an usual word in English. It seems a pity not to familiarize as much as may be such relics of the old tongue in whatever dialect they may be found, when no attempt is being made to translate into classical English.

Line 146.—foresteal. Grein does not give the word, and the orthography in Bosworth is forstal, though no instance is given of the occurrence of the word.

Line 147.—miht. The more usual form of the instrumental case is mihte (see Grein), but miht occurs in Cædmon, Exod. ix.: “soðfæst cyning mid his sylfes miht gewyrðode.”

Line 147.—For forwyrrnan, see Bosworth, s.v.

Line 148.—On this line a friend has suggested to me that the reading of the MS. eah-gemearces, may be a compound form, after the analogy of eagþyrl, eagdura, and mean eye-boundary, horizon. Had this occurred to me, I should not have suggested any other reading, feeling bound, in every case where it is possible, to render the text, rather than correct it. The like change of g to h has been instanced above, line 124. The Latin text seems to mean the limitless expanse of air.

Line 149.—under roderes ryne, the expression occurs in Elene, 795.

Line 150.—emnes. The usual adverb is emne, and the form in the text is found as a noun elsewhere.

Line 152.—read and reaðe. The latter of these words is for reðe, as it is written in 165. The same collocation in the Bi Manna Wyrðum of the Exeter MS., line 46; in Grein's Bibliothek, p. 208, read reðe gled.

Line 152.—ræset, written ræset (165), from ræsetan. See Loth, p. 240.

Line 152.—The more usual form of efesteð is efsteð.

Line 154.—brynæ, i.e. bryne.

Line 156.—afeomad and aclænsad, for the more usual forms in od.

Line 158.—folca unrim, cf. Germ. unzahl Leute.

Line 160.—The adjective forht most frequently signifies timid, terrified; but in the Hymns in Grein's Bibliothek, x. 56, on þa forhtan tid—at that terrible time, and so the adverb in the text may be rendered terribly or fiercely. The other sense, in their terror, would be intelligible, but scarcely seems so apt. The Latin gives no word.

Line 166.—bærnð for beornð. For an example of this tendency compare also the English learn from leornian.

Line 167.—heora heortan . . . syn scyldigra. For the construction compare Goodwin's Life of St. Guthlac, 22: wæs sum his scipes-man þæs foresprecean Aðelbaldes. There was one his boatman (viz.) the afore-mentioned Athelbald's.

Line 167.—horxllice for horsclice. An early example of the tendency which at the present day vulgarizes ask into ax, though curiously enough the original acsian had previously suffered metathesis to come into the modern ask.

Line 169.—æniman would be better written divisim, æni man. The g of ænig disappeared, but it did not on that account form a compound with the following noun, though here written so.

Line 169.—arnum. The adjective aren—honourable, meritorious, does not occur elsewhere, but it is regularly formed from ar, as fyren from fyr. The syncopation of the dative plural is like fyrnum teagum. Grein, Cr. 733, and Panth. 60, and gefæstnode fyrnum clommum, Andreas, 1380. Thus, be arnum gewyrhtum = meritis of the Latin text.

Line 170.—gehende (prep.) is constructed with a dative case. The earlier expression was at handum.

Line 171.—yrnð by syncope for yrneð.

Line 171.—The construction is þurh ealle breost-gehyða. Breost-gehyða being the genitive plural governed by ealle, which is in the accusative after þurh. Gehyða for gehygða. Grein gives one instance of this orthography from Cædmon, Dan. 732.

Line 173.—stænt, written stent in line 124, another instance of the fondness of the scribe for the vowel æ. Cf. suprà, line 154.

Line 173.—astifad, cf. suprà, line 156.

Line 175.—hwæt dreogest þu, cf. Grein, Juliana, line 247.

Line 176.—gewepan, only the simple form wepan is given in Bosworth and Grein.

Line 177.—Thou servest thyself, i.e. thine own pleasure.

Line 178.—glæd, adjective used adverbially.

Line 178.—leofian is not nearly so common as libban.

Line 178.—galnes or galnys, an unusual word, not in Grein, but given by Bosworth as occurring in the Cottonian copy of Ælfric's glossary.

Line 179.—Perhaps þær is an error for þæm, in which case the sense would be, "thou urgest thyself to that luxury."

Line 179.—gælsa is almost as unusual a word as galnes. But it occurs below, line 237.

Line 180.—Forhtas for forhtast. But it has been allowed to stand, because in the later language the second personal pronoun coming after its verb was attached to it, and the last letter of the verb elided, so forhtasþu may be intentional. Cf. Chaucer's frequent seystow and artow. But it may only be a clerical error, and no indication of the later usage.

Line 180.—fyrene for fyrenne, masculine accusative singular.

Line 181.—Here we have either a corrupt passage or the construction is most puzzling. ondræd is the imperative, and the sentence is = ondræd þu þe sylfum, i.e. dread thou for thyself. The writer seems to have considered the preceding interrogation equal to an imperative sentence, "Wilt thou not fear," equivalent to "Be thou afraid," and then to have followed it up by a direct imperative. For such an indicative (though not interrogative) sentence used for an imperative, cf. Ps. cxviii. 31 : ne wylt þu me gescyndan = do not confound me.

Line 181.—For ondræd, cf. Grein, Elene, 81 : Ne ondræd þu þe. But the passage is full of difficulty.

Line 183.—weana. It may be that this is to be taken as of the evils done by the tormented, than of the evils done to them. Then the rendering would be, "wages for evil doings." Bosworth quotes Bede (ed. Smith), p. 599, for this sense, which will suit this passage quite as well as that given in the translation.

Line 189.—susle, rather torture, torment, than with Bosworth's brimstone. The line is designed as a description of the depth mentioned in the line preceding, which depth existed in hell from of old amid fierce torments.

Line 190.—synt. The forms of this plural of the present indicative of the substantive verb are (1) syndon, (2) synd, (3) synt. The second occurs below (217, 285), and in Lár, 19.

Line 191.—þrece. This nominative form does not occur. Bosworth gives þrec. The genitive plural gicela cannot be literally translated.

Line 193.—ungemetum. This dative plural used adverbially is of frequent occurrence in the Psalms in Grein's Bibliothek.

Line 195.—gryrrað. This verb is not found elsewhere, but there can be no doubt of its meaning from its connexion with gryre.

Line 196.—þis atule gewrixl. This case pendent (either accusative or nominative) is taken up by the adverb þærinne.

Line 200.—stearc-heard, probably intended as a compound adjective, cf. widbrād.

Line 201.—na-wiht, one word; written naht, 206.

Line 203.—For similar omissions of the relative, which are not common, cf. Sax. Chr. 963: an munac, Brihtnoð wæs gehaten, a monk (who) was called Brihtnoth. Also Gen. xxix. 29: sealde ane þeowene Bala hatte, i.e. (who) was called Bala.

Line 207.—unstenc is not found elsewhere, but as the original signification of stenc, and of its derivative verb, was fragrance, pleasant odour, unstenc is a natural compound to signify the contrary thereof.

Line 208.—welras. This word, which is only used in the plural, is elsewhere spelt weleras.

Line 214.—Forhwi is a literal representation of the cur in the Latin text, but the translator does not seem to have known that cur might be rendered because, otherwise he would have written here for þy.

Line 214.—fyrgende, evidently intended to translate the present participle luxurians, must be from a verb fyrgan, of a kindred signification with the verbs firenian and fyrenan, but such verb does not occur elsewhere.

Line 218.—sperca: the orthography elsewhere is spearca.

Line 221.—For wihte used thus adverbially, see Grein, Cædmon, Dan. 146.

Line 225.—For ƿ we should have expected a repetition of þær.

Line 229.—sawle=sawle for sawla, the usual form of the plural nominative. But sawle is found, Christ and Satan, 296.

Line 232.—mid ealle=Germ. ganz und gar. For instances see Alf. Metr. 17, 22; 18, 3; 19, 3.

Line 234.—hleapað, i.e. will leap away in flight.

Line 238.—scyndan. This, which is the slightest possible alteration of the MS., makes the verb an infinitive, and governed by gewiteð (236). But it might be altered and a simpler construction obtained by reading scyndað, the plural verb being justified by the expression ælc gælsa. A like construction with the infinitive slincan occurs in the next two lines.

Line 242.—on ende. Thus used as adverb in Grein, Ps. lviii. 12, lxxviii. 5.

Line 243.—lað may either be an adjective, as translated, or a noun =an object of loathing or offence.

Line 251.—geþeon, an unusual form of this word. For þeowan is very rare. The usual word is þeowan.

Line 253.—þeostra, i.q. þeostru.

Line 253.—genipð. This verb does not occur elsewhere, but its meaning is sufficiently evident from its noun.

Line 259.—gebrasl is not found, nor brasl; but it is for brastl, which is the same as the more usual brastlung.

Line 261.—tintrega, another instance of this masculine nominative is given by Grein from Christ and Satan, 497. The more usual word is the neuter tintreg.

Line 265.—This line is without alliteration, though containing a rime.

Line 267.—ricxað, an intensified form, ricsað or rixað being usual.

Line 275.—lifað=lyfð. Third singular present indicative from leofan. The more usual verb is lufian.

Line 276.—heah gehrineð. This emendation seems to most nearly approach the Latin text, collocat Altithrono. heofon-setle must be dative, and hean could not be taken with it. Bosworth intimates that gehrinan is sometimes written gerinan (see 28u), but does not give an instance, and the nn of the MS. is easily accounted for.

Line 278.—sylð; the usual forms are seleð and syleð, from the latter of which, by a syncopation of which the writer seems very fond, the form in the text is easily reached.

Line 287.—This verse is incomplete, some phrase having fallen out which represented splendentia castra triumphis.

Line 290.—læt for the more usual lædeð. The same part of the verb is spelt let in line 294.

Line 290.—Of the last word in this line, drut, I can offer no explanation, and have therefore written brut, which may have been written as a form of bryd. This is however very uncertain. Could drut be a contraction for deorut?

Line 291.—frowe, evidently the German frau, though it is not found elsewhere in Saxon.

Line 299.—her=in the world of bliss.

Line 300.—For a similar omission of the relative, cf. 203. þæm

must here be singular, as is shown by the verb. þam in the next line is plural first, and then singular.

Line 302.—unbleoh, a word not found elsewhere, seems to be intended as the equivalent of the incolumem of the Latin. The sense may perhaps be arrived at in this way: bleoh may, as the name of the colour blue, have been applied, as the English word is now, to that which is livid from approaching decay; and thus unbleoh would bear the sense of uncorrupted. But with a word which only occurs here much must be uncertain.

DE DIE JUDICII.

Page 22.—The Latin text is taken exactly from the edition of Bede as printed in Migne's Bibliotheca Patristica. It is there included among the doubtful works of that Father, and as has been noticed in the Preface, this Latin is also attributed to Alcuin. Either author puts the composition at as early a date as the eighth century.

LAR.

Page 28.—Lār. The title has been adopted from the text of this short poem (line 32). It is evidently intended as a supplement to the Doomsday poem, though no Latin of it is found.

Line 6.—flige. This adjective seems to be formed from ful, after the manner of halig from hal, and sarig from sar. It perhaps would be more correctly written fulige. It is left as in the MS., being neither in Grein nor Bosworth.

Line 7.—oftost symle. The same collocation occurs in the Juliana of the Cod. Ex., line 20. See Grein, ii. 53.

Line 11.—advæscan, properly used of extinguishing a flame, but this same expression synne advæscan, occurs in Christ and Satan, 306. See Grein, i. 137.

Line 11.—fela, like the Latin multum, is followed by a partitive genitive.

Line 16.—on gemang symle, nearly equivalent to our withal.

Line 23.—If the text be correct, wylle is equivalent to wylle þæt. I have no instance of such an omission of the accusative before the infinitive in an interrogation. Perhaps we should read nylle, and make the sentence declaratory—It will not please.

Line 24.—mihtu (i.e. miht þu). This coalescing of the pronoun with the verb is a sign of late date. Similar instances are hafastu (i.e. hafast þu), Christ and Satan, 64 (Gr. Bibl. i. p. 131); and scealtu (i.e. scealt þu), Andreas, 220 (Grein, ii. p. 15).

Line 27.—forwinnan seems used in the sense of oferwinnan, to overpower, and so eject from a possession. I have not found another instance of the word.

Line 27.—wealth as the translation of welena implies, of course, every kind of weal.

Line 28.—ealvinga, a late form of the adverb.

Line 29.—laðum to handa. The phrase to handa, with a similar dative of the person, occurs in Cædmon's Genesis, 1463: to handa halgum rince; and to frofre, with the same construction, as it is in the next line, is found in the same poem, line 955: him to frofre.

Line 32.—digolice, literally secretly, seems to imply that this precept was some arcanum, some deep and efficacious esoteric teaching.

Line 53.—The adverbs are difficult to bring into any English rendering; earfoðlice seems to imply the trouble spent in bewailing sin; earhlice, the dread arising from the thought of God's anger.

Line 58.—The sense appears to be, "Find out how thou mayest leave without having received injury from them these talents which have been entrusted to thee."

Line 63.—hremi, i.e. hremig. This is an instance of the stage through which most of our adjectives in y have passed: as anig into any, sælig into silly.

Line 66.—þæt is certainly pleonastic, and perhaps should be omitted.

ORATIO POETICA.

This prayer, together with the two paraphrases which follow it, have already been printed in Wanley's Catalogue, appended to Hickes's Thesaurus; but as they were evidently a portion of what precedes them in the MS., it has been deemed advisable to reprint them.

Line 1.—Thænne. This first word indicates a connexion between what is to come and what has gone before.

Line 1.—N (like the M or N in the Church Catechism) stands as the initial of the name of the person addressed, and this letter may be used as an abbreviation for Nomen. It will be seen from the margin of page 36 how very corrupt the Latin portion of this composition is.

In lines 3 and 4 the Latin half of the line has disappeared, and no attempt has been made in reprinting to supply the hiatus, which is merely indicated by the incompleteness of the lines as now arranged. Such other alterations as have been made in the Latin have only been made that the text might be intelligible. The mixture of English and Latin makes the composition of little value grammatically, when in some constructions an English adjective is joined with a Latin noun, the government of the Latin noun being indicated in one way, and that of the adjective in another, as is the case in line 10.

Line 17.—gebyrd-boda. A compound not found elsewhere, but regularly formed as gebyrd-tid, and wil-boda.

Line 21.—fricolo. Another ἄπαξ λεγόμενον. Grein, who quotes the word from Wanley, makes it a noun derived friclan, to desire, and hence used adverbially it bears the meaning assigned in the translation, “fervently,” “eagerly.” He also connects it with the adjective freo, greedy. A somewhat similar use of an accusative to express the means, though it is not here with a verb, occurs in Cædmon, Gen. 117: Folde wæs þa gyt græs ungrene—Not verdant with grass; and nearer still in the same poem, line 812, we have unwereð wædo, unclad in weeds (or clothing), where the instrumental accusative wædo is a parallel to fricolo in the text.

PARAPHRASE OF THE LORD'S PRAYER.

This text has been published by Grein in his Bibliothek, vol. ii. pp. 287–290, and had been previously produced by Ettmüller, Scôp. 231–234, both having copied it from Wanley. For completing the alliteration in defective lines, and now and then for improving it, Grein has adopted the suggestions of Ettmüller, as where he fills up line 6 with cyning wuldres, or, as in line 11, reads engla for gasta of the text. In the present reprint the text of the MS. has been faithfully represented in most cases in the body of the poem, a transfer of text to the margin having been only made where it was clearly needful to do so.

Line 10.—ealla. The alteration by Grein to ealle is probably correct (cf. line 12); but as this form ealla is found in Alfred's Metres, xx. 128 (Grein ii. 319), it is deemed best to leave it unchanged in this reprint.

Line 15.—racað. This is Ettmüller's correction, adopted by Grein, and absolutely necessary.

Line 18.—heah nama. Ettmüller would read as one word, but this is not needed.

Line 30.—sib. Ettmüller proposes sibbe, the more usual form, but these feminines of the strong declension have both forms of the accusative, some words using one form more than the other. Cf. dæd, in which the short form is the more usual. On the other hand, in nouns like lufu, the accusative in e is so much the more common, that lufu of the MS. has been transferred to the margin. This is the only example of lufu as accusative which Grein quotes.

Line 33.—mannum to frofre, cf. supra Lár, line 29.

Line 42.—þinre. sinre is probably correct, as Grein reads; but it is just possible to attach a meaning to the text of a subtle character, as implying that Son is one with the Father, and for this reason þinre is allowed to stand.

Line 43.—The neuter gecynd requires us to read æþele. The MS. has þin, not þine, as Wanley prints.

Line 47.—fægere, omitted in Wanley, and no suggestion made by Ettmüller or Grein. This reading of the MS. makes the line complete.

Line 55.—ealre. Wanley printed ealra. Grein suggests ealre, which the MS. has.

Line 66.—Grein and Ettmüller read ælcere gecynde. The text is very harsh, but may be rendered as an accusative—"But as to each race thou gavest [it] its peculiar habits."

Line 68.—sænst, i.e. senst, which Grein reads; but as the form sændest occurs in line 7, it is better to let this peculiarity of the orthography remain.

Line 70.—In this incomplete line Grein adopts Ettmüller's addition of rumheort klawford to fill up. It will do as well as anything else, and occurs in line 63. Probably, therefore, it was not the text in this line.

Line 80.—Here Wanley has omitted fæste, which the MS. gives. Ettmüller suggested frofre.

Line 82.—Wanley printed cyninge. In MS. the last letter is c.

Line 86.—So here, too, the MS. has the correct arisað, which Wanley gave as ariseð.

Line 87.—acænned, i.e. acenned, but see note on line 68.

Line 88.—eft, omitted by Wanley. gebrosnodon = gebrosnodan.

Line 98.—are, thus in MS., Wanley arc.

Line 100.—mihta MS., Wanley nihta. Both these corrections had been made by Grein.

Line 111.—gifness, as suggested by Grein, though not introduced into his text, is probably correct, but see note on line 30.

Line 118.—gecydd=gecyðed. But in a poem so late as this we need not substitute the earlier form, though Grein has done so.

PARAPHRASE OF THE DOXOLOGY.

This poem has also been printed by Grein (vol. ii. pp. 291, 292), and likewise by Bouterwek and Ettmüller from Wanley, see Grein, ii. 411.

Line 13.—higefrofer=higefrofor. Grein adds to this line and halig gast, which completes the alliteration, but he does not say from whence he derives the addition.

Line 23.—After dagum Grein inserts and on þone, to make the sense complete, but the words can be understood without the addition.

Line 27.—heaan=heán. On this form see March, Ang.-Sax. Gr. page 61, compared with page 59.

Line 27.—friðiað. Here Grein adopts the more usual and classic form freoð-iað, but this is to give to poem a form which does not belong to it. The other form is found both simply and in composition.

Line 33.—Grein prefers heo, referring to miht in the previous line, but hig can be construed as referring to weorc.

Line 47.—Here Grein reads halige domas.

Line 49.—Grein shows some inconsistency in adopting middangeard as the reading here, but leaving middaneard in line 38. MS. and Wanley have middaneard in both cases.

INDEX VERBORUM.

The numbers which have no preceding letter refer to the lines of Doomsday; those preceded by L to the Lár; those by O to the Oratio Poetica; those by P to the Paraphrase of the Lord's Prayer; those by D to the Paraphrase of the Doxology.
